The FASTeR approach for using Nicotine Replacement Therapy for Smoking Cessation
A practical approach to help your patients become non-smokers using Nicotine Replacement Therapy (NRT)

By regularly integrating this tool into practice, healthcare professionals can reduce the impact of smoking on disease risk and mortality. — Mike Boivin, Pharmacist

Steps to a FASTeR Approach

- Step 1: Frequently ask patients about their tobacco status
- Step 2: Start patient-centered nicotine replacement therapy
- Step 3: Strongly taper & tobacco and/or alcohol, Strongly Stress 1 NRT products
- Step 4: Stop Tobacco and if appropriate, Strongly Taper 2 NRT products
- Step 5: Reassess and frequently follow up. Monitor treatment if the patient has a slip or relapse

Step 1: Frequently ask patients about their tobacco status

- Before counseling, it is important to understand the patient's tobacco status, and currently, change, it is important to ask your patients frequently
- Remember asking is part of routine care
- Examples of ways to ask your patients:
  - "Do you smoke or use any type of tobacco products or any tobacco-containing products?"
  - "In the past month, how many cigarettes or any type of tobacco or any other tobacco-containing products have you used?"
  - "Do you smoke or use any type of tobacco products or any tobacco-containing products?"
- Ask of patients want you to bring up the topic of smoking cessation

Step 2: Start patient-centered NRT smoking cessation therapy

- The most successful use of NRT follows a 3-step process: 1. Assessment of readiness and motivation, 2. Assessment of nicotine dependence, 3. Assessment of readiness to quit
- The most common smoking cessation pharmacotherapy options are:
  - Nicotine gum
  - Nicotine patch
  - Nicotine inhaler
  - Nicotine lozenge
  - Nicotine transdermal system
- Engage the patient in the choice of pharmacotherapy. Each option is effective with smoking cessation. Discuss the best option and set them up for success
- Considered with appropriate advice from a healthcare professional, combination NRT (patch + short-acting) increases the chance of quitting by up to 60% (compared to using either alone)

Step 3: Strongly taper & tobacco and/or alcohol, Strongly Stress 1 NRT products

- Stop tobacco and if appropriate, Strongly Taper 2 NRT products
- Reassess and frequently follow up. Monitor treatment if the patient has a slip or relapse

Step 4: Stop Tobacco and if appropriate, Strongly Taper 2 NRT products

- Stop tobacco and if appropriate, Strongly Taper 2 NRT products
- Reassess and frequently follow up. Monitor treatment if the patient has a slip or relapse

Step 5: Reassess and frequently follow up. Monitor treatment if the patient has a slip or relapse

Notes:

- Check Nicotine Replacement Therapy (NRT) products
- Patients should be advised to avoid interactions with tobacco and/or alcohol
- The tool and sheet are available for download at www.kenvuepro.com/en-ca
- For patients who receive additional behavioral support and track their cigarette and NRT use through the FREE Kenvue® Stop Smoking App
